

Group Discussions:

Discuss these questions about this week's teaching and texts. It's ideal to limit the size of your group to two-eight people. If you are in a larger group, it would be good to split into two or more groups for the discussion.

Before the group meets, read the text(s) (from the sermon) yourself and write down your thoughts, questions, and insights.

- What have been the highs and lows of your week?
- Where have you seen or experienced Jesus?
- What does this scripture (from the sermon) tell us about God?
- What does this scripture tell us about people?
- What questions does this text raise for you?
- How is God speaking to your life through this text?
- Because of what God is saying in this scripture, is there anything you need to believe or do differently?
- Is there anyone else who needs to hear about this?
